I am a 26 year old African female currently in the telemarketing and sales industry. I am a hard worker, I pay attention to every detail and I always aim for the best result in any and every job I do because everything I do and achieve is a reflection of me. I have experience in the hospitality industry, the retail industry and sales, however I am interested in computer programming and I have acquired several web development and programming skills. I am a fast learner and I have come to realize that there is nothing I cannot do once I put my mind to it.
